Hi Todd,

Thank you for asking what websites I like and what I would like to see in the new Rebekah's website.

One website I really like is Harvest Health Foods:

<https://harvesthealthfoods.com/>

I like the clean layout, the front page tabs, the social media videos on the front pages and the way the website guides visitors through the different areas of the business without feeling overwhelming.

I also love the images and video on Eli's website. The video is especially powerful and immediately gives visitors a feeling for the business. I am considering hiring someone to take drone footage of the outside of one of our stores, along with professional video footage inside several of our locations. Our stores are truly beautiful, and I would like the website to show that.

For the opening section, I would like a strong message such as:

"Wellness Begins With Knowing Where to Start."

For nearly 20 years, Rebekah's Health & Nutrition has helped Michigan families find trusted supplements, natural products, education and personalized guidance—all under one roof.

I would like the main navigation

Visit Our Stores

Shop Online (if we go with an ecommerce site)

Explore Classes & Events

Wellness Source Blog

Meet Rebekah

Overall, I like many parts of our current website. My biggest concern is that it feels pieced together and does not flow smoothly from one section to the next. It is also slow, and the backend makes it difficult for us to maintain, update and add new content.

Some of the most important areas I would like to feature are:

Our classes and events

Our Wellness Source blog

Professional store and product photography

Rebekah's Signature Line (whether online or in store)

Our four store locations

If we decide to move forward with a full e-commerce website, I would like clean product pages with strong photos, organized categories and an easy shopping experience.

If we decide not to build a full e-commerce website, I would still like an "In-Store Products" section that highlights the main brands and product categories available in our stores.

I would also like a more visible section encouraging customers to sign up for our newsletter and text service. The current newsletter sign-up needs to be updated so customers can select which store they primarily shop at. We have a separate text list for each location, so collecting their preferred store is very important.

My overall goal is for the new website to feel warm, professional, educational and easy to navigate. It should reflect the experience customers receive when they walk into one of our stores: knowledgeable guidance, trusted products and a team that genuinely cares.

Thank you again. I am excited to hear your thoughts and recommendations.

Rebekah
